DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: "11" as discussed on page 5, line 5 and "25" as discussed on page 7, line 4. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 5, line 7, "crowing" should be corrected to "crowning". Further, on page 6, paragraph 3, line 3, applicant refers to "bayonet 22"; however, on page 7, lines 2-3, applicant refers to the same reference numeral as "bias leaf 22". Clarification required.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 2, line 2, "said sliding rod" lacks proper antecedent basis.

Art Unit: 3632

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cawley et al'586. Cawley'586 discloses a tree-top mounting device comprising a housing (the threaded connector A connecting two parts of 6, fig. 2 as shown by examiner's attached illustration), an elongated support (101 and 6) slidably received within the housing, a fitting head (101) disposed at a distal end of elongated support and a fastener (the threaded inner walls of connector A in figure 2) adapted to secure the housing to the tree; a lock to secure the sliding rod (threaded external portion of rod 6) in the housing; a fitting head includes bayonet coupling (figure 3A and figure 3B) comprising a disc (102, fig. 2) and a cylindrical connector (101, fig. 3A).

Claims 1, 4, 6, 7, 9, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fuss'004. Fuss discloses a tree-top mounting device comprising a housing (24, fig. 2), an elongated support (18) slidably received within the housing, a fitting head (socket 30, fig. 4) disposed at a distal end of elongated support and a fastener (22 and 26) adapted to secure the housing to the tree; a fitting head includes bayonet coupling means (30) comprising a disc (fig. 4) and a cylindrical connector (30, fig. 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 8, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fuss'004 in view of Hamilton'882. Fuss'004 disclosed all the claimed features of applicant's claimed invention except for means for locking the sliding rod within the housing. Hamilton teaches a telescoping rod (A) with means to lock (C') the sliding rod with the housing (C). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a fastener to the sliding rod and housing connection of Fuss'004 for fixing the sliding rod within the housing during support as taught by Hamilton'882.

Claims 3 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fuss'004 in view of Gladsden et al'270. Fuss'004 disclosed all the claimed features of applicant's claimed invention except for bayonet coupling attachment. Gladsden'270 teaches a light mounted on top of a post having bayonet coupling attachment (38). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to mount the ornament light of Fuss'004 via bayonet coupling as taught by Gladsden'270 for ease in mounting.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fuss'004 in view of Aldridge'098. Fuss'004 disclosed all the claimed features of applicant's claimed invention except for the fastener as being hook and loop fastener. Aldridge teaches in a tree top mounting assembly of providing hook and loop fastener (20, fig. 4) for securing to the top of the tree. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the clamp fastener of Fuss'004 with hook and loop fastener strap as taught by Aldridge'098. Such modification would have involved a mere substitution of one known fastener for another well-known fastener which is well within the ambit of one of ordinary skill in the art.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Burnbaum'787 and Frank et al'936 teach tree top mounting assemblies. Ross teaches use of multiple straps to mount a holder to the top of a post. Katz teach connection means. Johnson, Jr. et al and Patry further teach bayonet coupling means on top of a post. Clayton et al further teach locking means for telescoping members.
